Ackerman, Helen, and Stokinger, Herbert E. A purified toxin of Clostridium botulinum A. Abstract 136
—, —, and Carpenter, Charles M. The pH-stability of toxic filtrates of Staphylococcus aureus and certain species of the genus Clostridium. Abstract 135
Actinobacillotic-like lesions, A descriptive study of a spore-forming bacillus isolated from. Abstract 285
Actinomyces antibioticus, a new soil organism antagonistic to pathogenic and non-pathogenic bacteria 231
—, Bacteriolytic properties of 801
Actinomycetes, The distribution of antagonistic properties among. Abstract 816
—, Value of pigmentation in classifying. A preliminary note 791
Acton, Flora, Bradley, Robert, Wolf, Mark, and Hunter, Charles A. The isolation of Brucella from milk. Abstract 286
Adams, S. L., Stark, W. H., and Kolachov, Paul. Effect of the bacterial content of barley malt on the fermentation efficiency of spirits mash. Abstract 292
Aerobic and anaerobic methods, Relative efficiency of, in the isolation of beta-hemolytic streptococci. Abstract 138
— mesophilic cellulose bacteria, The separation of some. Abstract 144
—, microaerophilic and anaerobic conditions in a petri dish, The maintenance of. Abstract. (No abstract.) 432
— sporulating bacilli, Bactericidal substances of. Abstract 815
Air, A confirmed test for streptococci from. Abstract 436
—, A study of the performance of the Wells air centrifuge and of the settling rates of bacteria through the air. Studies on microorganisms in simulated room environments. I 321
—, Purification and examination of. Abstract 292
—, The disappearance of vaccinia virus from. Studies on microorganisms in simulated room environments. VI 635
Alcohol tolerance of yeasts, Studies on the 561
Aldolase and isomerase equilibria, Occurrence of the, in bacterial metabolism 665
Alum-toxoid and alum-toxin, Tetanus antitoxin production after intravenous or subcutaneous injections of. Abstract. (No abstract.) 289
Anaerobic and facultative organisms. The lactate-fermenting, in silage. Abstract 140
— bacteria, Spore formation among the. I. The formation of spores by Clostridium sporogenes in nutrient agar media 265
— microorganisms, A general outline of the methods for the cultivation of. Abstract. (No abstract.) 432
